Valuable Film on Cancer Stolen from Med. Bldg. After Preview Showing

Robbery May Have Been Done by Foreign Agent

On Tuesday afternoon a color film containing many years of research on cancer was stolen from the Medical Building after a preview showing.

The film which took more than a year to complete, is the only one of its kind, and is said to be one of the most important milestones in the battle to conquer cancer.

The robbery is being investigated by both the municipal police and the R.C.M.P. In a statement to the press one person connected with the search for the film said that there might be the possibility that the valuable film was stolen by a foreign government, which had recently placed millions of dollars to start a research program of their own.

BEST FILM OF CANCER
When shown to a group of selected physicians, they judged it to be the best medical film on the subject. On Tuesday it was shown to a group of 15 selected medical students, and after the showing, Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, who made the film and was keeping it under his custody, left the lecture hall with the students, leaving it unguarded in the projector. On their return to the lecture hall, both the film and the projector had disappeared.

Two men were seen running up the stairs by the porter, after Dr. Ayre and the students had left. He also stated that the two men seemed familiar in appearance, and that he had seen them in the building on other occasions.

IRREPARABLE LOSS

U. of M. Meds Offered Post Grad. Course

Montreal, Jan. 22. — (CUP) — A post-graduate course for specialists in the faculty of Medicine at the University of Montreal is now being started. The Faculty of Medicine has inaugurated this year in its different labs post graduate courses leading to a Master's Degree, with the view to a better culture and for immediate preparation of a competent teaching staff for both the faculty and the hospitals.

Eighteen young doctors have already enrolled in these courses which eventually lead to the following specialties: Medicine, Surgery, Gynecology, Obstetrics, Pediatrics, Children's Surgery, Orthopedics and Anaesthesia. This course is scheduled to take five years, distributed as follows: two years' hospital and university work, in third year the student chooses his specialty, the fourth year is devoted to his specialty, while the fifth year is spent at some other post graduate school.

For the French Canadian Medical Profession, especially these post graduate courses are of great importance as formerly those doctors who wished to specialize in any particular branch of medicine had to continue their studies in Europe or the U.S. Because of the high expenses involved many hopeful doctors had to forget and give up their chosen specialties, however from now on all those desiring to specialize will have the opportunity to do so.

The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada has been approached with the object of recognizing this diploma as equivalent to that given by the Royal College itself.

Nat'l Research Council Offers Scholarships

The National Research Council has issued an invitation for applications for post-graduate scholarships in science, tenable during the academic session beginning October 1 next.

To those applicants who have graduated "cum laude" in scientific studies, bursaries of $450 will be opened for award. The council is also donating studentships worth $750 for those students with experience in research work in science for at least one year following graduation. Fellowships of $900 as well are being offered to those applicants who have given distinct evidence of capacity to conduct independent research in science.

Copies of regulation and application forms may be obtained from the Registrar of the Dean or Head of the Department or upon application to the Secretary-Treasurer, National Research Council, Ottawa. The deadline for applications is March 1st.

Radio Show Stars Revue Jazz Vocalist

By "THE REVUE-ER"
This Saturday night at 9:30 over station C.I.A.D., "McGill Speaks" will feature Anne Flemming, one of the vocalists from the Red and White Revue. Anne is quite a jazz enthusiast and will display some of her vocal talents on a few popular swing arrangements. Miss Flemming was going to accompany the preview of the Revue to Dawson last night, but as Dawson was unprepared to accommodate the show, it had to be cancelled at the last moment. Miss Barbara Paris will accompany Anne on the piano, Saturday night. Barbara is quite an accomplished pianist possessing a very original style. These two girls will be setting quite a precedent on McGill Speaks as swing stylists have been kept pretty well in the background.

C.I.A.D. will also be presenting another feature of the McGill Red and White Revue tomorrow over the Midnight Express. Genial Ted Root has arranged to interview Della Dwane, the costume designer for the Revue. This should prove to be a very interesting program as Ted claims that he will also have some very unusual material to present over his program that night. It is expected that this portion of the show will be presented on the Dawson Car. This Dawson section has met with good approval from the college students, as numerous letters have been pouring in to the station since its inception a few days ago.

Engineers to Hold Debate at 1 Today

The Civils team meet up with the Mining and Metallurgists today at 1:00 p.m. in one of the hotly contested inter-departmental debates sponsored by the Engineering Debating Society. The debate is to be held in room 33 of the Engineering Building, while the topic is, "Resolved that a subway should be built in Montreal in the near future."

Nixon and McLeod will uphold the affirmative for the Mining and Metallurgists, while Civils Bryan and Grey will attempt to prove that the present transportation facilities are sufficient.

Commencing with this debate, a new feature will be introduced in the form of a student chairman. This inauguration has been made to give more engineers a chance to take part in the public speaking program. As usual all those who attend are invited to bring their lunches to the room with them.

Notice to Dawson

The Executive of the Red and White Revue regret to announce that due to difficulties arising at Dawson College, over which the Revue unfortunately had no control, the preview scheduled for tonight, will not be presented. The Executive wishes to apologize for any inconvenience that this cancellation may have incurred.

Heddie Brown Entrained for Toronto Univ.

One of the passengers on last night's train to Toronto was Heddie Brown, president of the Women's Union en route to the annual University College dance to represent McGill as a "typical coed". At the same dance will be representatives from Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario.

Heddie Brown was chosen by the Students' Executive Council at their weekly meeting on Monday, January 13, to make the Toronto trip, as best qualified to represent McGill women. Jean Gardiner, the Western representative, is secretary of the U.S.C. Western students' governing body. Mary Jane Barclay, of Queen's is president of the Levana Society, highest position open to women on the campus.

Although the dance is to be informal, representatives of the three universities will dress formally for the occasion. They will preside as judges in a contest to pick the ideal man as Dean of Women's residence. Four candidates are already entered in the contest, designed to give students the opportunity of specifying what qualities a man should have to become dean.

The first candidate for the title was an exchange student from the University of Burgundy, who stated, according to officials, that the reason for his entering the contest was obvious.

Experts to Speak

Forum on "Causes of War" To Be Held in Union Tonight

Final plans for to-night's forum on the "Causes of War" to be held in the Grill Room of the Union at 8:15 were released yesterday afternoon and call for the evening to be divided into two parts. The first section of the panel discussion will see each of the four experts participating deliver short addresses of approximately eight minutes in length in which the viewpoints of their particular branch of studies will be presented.

Following this, the four speakers will engage in a discussion to last for about half an hour, along the lines of the American "Town Hall Meeting of the Air" programme and after this the floor will be thrown open for questions from the audience.

Four of the social sciences will be represented in the discussion—economics, history, sociology, and psychology. Dr. B. H. Higgins, Bronfman Professor of Economics, will outline the economic factors leading to war while Professor Laviolette will discuss the underlying sociological implications involved. Professor Fieldhouse will deliver the historian's concept while Dr. K. Stern, of the Allan Memorial

"Gen Nite," the first in the series of lectures designed to acquaint undergraduates with the opportunities and problems of their post-graduate life, and the best University preparation for the career of their choice, will be held tonight in the Union Ballroom at 8:00 p.m. Tonight's speakers will be well-known members of the teaching staff of McGill, who will speak on what McGill has to offer the undergraduate in preparation for his work outside the University.

The Faculty members chosen for this meeting represent in their vocations the major subjects of instruction at McGill; this will ensure as broad a picture as possible of the training offered to the undergraduate in all faculties. Thus it is hoped that all students who attend will learn something of value to them personally, in the selection of their courses at the University.

"Gen Nite" is one of the first results of the efforts of the Arts and Science Education Committee. The Committee felt that the many cases of students changing faculties in the middle of their University life were indicative of a lack of direction on the part of the University, and the absence of knowledge of the actual conditions prevailing in the business and professional world of today. In an attempt to better these conditions, the series of "Gen Nite" lectures, under the general title of "The University and Your Future," were inaugurated.

P.C. Club to Hear Fulton In Union at 1

E. Davie Fulton, the Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Kamloops, B.C., will speak on "Why we need a Bill of Rights," at one o'clock to-day in the Union Ball Room.

The speaker has been co-operating with J. G. Diefenbaker, M.P., who is moving for the adoption of a Bill of Rights at the forthcoming Parliament at Ottawa, and has made a particular study of this subject. This is the first open meeting of the new term sponsored by the Progressive Conservative Club and is open to all interested.

Mr. Fulton, who has just completed a tour of Canada during which he spoke at several Universities, is one of the youngest members of the federal house and has since his election in June 1945 taken an active part in all debates. In addition to his duties in the house he is also the President of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Canada, a position to which he was elected last March. Mr. Fulton comes from a family long interested in politics since both his father and his grandfather served in the Conservative administrations of British Columbia at different times.

Graduating from the University of British Columbia in 1936, Mr. Fulton also spent three years studying at Oxford on a Rhodes scholarship. Upon his return from England he opened a legal practice at Kamloops but with the advent of war he gave this up and enlisted in the Seaforth Highlanders, proceeding overseas in 1940. He served for a considerable time in Italy and upon his return from overseas was elected to Parliament from his home constituency, having been flown back home after his nomination. Mr. Fulton incidentally has the distinction of being one of the first members of the Federal Parliament to attend a McGill Model Parliament since he was an interested spectator at last night's session.

First Stud. Meeting Of New Term to Be Held This Afternoon

Lounge Start Marked By Coed Tea Party

The inauguration of the new lounge in the basement of the Royal Victoria College will be marked by a tea to be held there Monday, Jan. 27, from 4 to 6 p.m. This lounge, located just opposite the R.V.C. cafeteria, is being decorated and furnished by the Women's Union, and is at the disposal of women students at all times. Clergyman to Speak on Iona At 8 To-day

Rev. George F. MacLeod, M.C. D.D., will be the speaker at a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the Divinity Hall, 3520 University street. Dr. MacLeod is a Scotsman, educated at Winchester, Oxford and Edinburgh. He served throughout the First World War and was awarded the Croix-de-Guerre. This is not the first time that he has been in Canada, for he was, at one time, after his war service, a chaplain in the lumber camps of British Columbia. On his return to Scotland he served in two churches in succession, of which the latter was the Govan Parish Church, the largest and most severe parish in Glasgow, amongst the Clydeside workers.

From the Govan Church he moved to found the "Friends of Iona Community" and the Iona Community itself, which is on the site of an ancient monastic mission in the island of Iona off the coast of Scotland.

The nature of the experiment in worship, work and study which is being carried on by the Iona Community will be the subject matter of Dr. MacLeod's talk tonight. His talk will be illustrated by motion picture films of the island. An invitation is extended by the S.C.M.

P.C.'s Lose Bill

Federation's Amendment Carried As Model Parliament Dissolved

The amendment to the Progressive Conservative Bill proposed by the C.C.F. party at last night's Model Parliament was passed by a large majority. Bill Archer, Prime Minister in the Progressive Conservative government, dissolved Parliament before a vote could be taken on the government bill. The Liberals and C.C.F. joined with the L.P.P. Opposition to sustain the amendment.

The Bill introduced by the government was intended to reaffirm the principle of parliamentary supremacy by giving Parliament as a whole, instead of the Cabinet alone, control over the organization and administration of all Crown companies. The C.C.F. amendment proposed that formulation of general policy alone be left in the hands of Parliament, that organization and administration remain in the hands of the Cabinet and that public enterprise in certain fields be reaffirmed and extended.

Bill Archer and Len Beaton were main speakers for the government. Speaking in rebuttal of the Opposition Parties, the Prime Minister claimed that they were trying to bring up false issues and throw dust in the eyes of the voters, the main issue being whether legislative power properly belonged to Parliament itself or to the executive.

John Switzman, speaking for His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, decried the demagoguery of the Government and expressed surprise that they had made no reference to private enterprise now that they found themselves in power.

Band, Sports Are Highlights Of This Meet

The Students' Society will meet tonight in the Union Ballroom at 5 p.m. to consider reports on various student activities, and to discuss any other business which may arise. Aleo Ross, President of the Students' Society will chair the meeting, which will require an attendance of 500 in order to be official, in accordance with an amendment to the Constitution passed last year.

On the agenda for the meeting is a report on the activities of some campus societies during the year, including the Band, whose executive recently resigned, complaining of lack of cooperation from its members. It is hoped that Marcel Joyal, new chairman of the McGill Section of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, will be on hand to give a report on the activities of N.F.C.U.S.

SPORTS REPORT
John Summerskill, one of the student members of the Athletics Investigating Committee which was set up to enquire into the entire Sports picture at McGill, has signified his willingness to give his views on the work of the Committee up to the present. The full report of the Committee has not as yet been completed, but he is willing to answer any questions on this subject to the best of his ability.

Members of the Students' Executive Council will also be in attendance at the meeting. During the question period which will follow the meeting, students will be able to ask them for their opinions on any matters which they want to bring up.

and the I.V.C.F. to all who are interested to attend this meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

Don't Waste It!

One of the theories on which true democracy is based is the power of criticism in the hands of the electorate — the opportunity for the ordinary voter to state his views and to impress on the governing body where he believes they are not performing their duties in the best manner. Just such an opportunity is what we consider the true freedom we hold so dear.

And just such an opportunity is being afforded the electorate of this campus at the meeting of the Students Society scheduled to take place this afternoon. The meeting is being held in compliance with the change in the constitution of the Society made just last March at another general meeting. At that time it was pointed out that aside from a special meeting of the Society, called usually for some specific question only, there was no opportunity for the average student to voice his complaints to the Students Executive Council — except via the Daily's Letter Forum the result was the inclusion of a clause calling for a meeting within the first month of each new term.

So, today, the students generally will be afforded an opportunity of meeting the new Council and of seeking information on particular points concerning the conduct of the Society's business. At the same time, they will be afforded an opportunity to test general opinion on various questions which have been topics of interest and often of misunderstanding on the campus.

It is certainly not an opportunity to be wasted. We trust that the turnout will indicate a heightened interest in the affairs of the campus. —A.K.

Lies! Lies!

We have often heard The Daily being taken to task for errors of commission. Heretofore, the Managing Board has believed the fault to lie partly with themselves for negligence; the rest of the blame, we felt, lay with the harassed, hardworking students-turned - newspapermen. After all, didn't they go to classes and labs during the day and then what could we expect at night when they are hounded by lobbyists of all types. It was only common sense (we thought) that these factors were the cause of all our woes — surely the mistakes were unintentional.

But then we began to look around. The Daily is paid for by students. McGill is a private institution and so any student who attends it must be able to pay easily. The veterans are here by dint of D.V.A. cheques and who pays for these cheques but the government. Why, we thought, some students even belong to fraternities. The whole thing is full of capitalist nonsense and The Daily must be a capitalist institution.

That was it. The reason there were so many mistakes was that the capitalist students of a capitalist paper deliberately printed lies about people and events — malicious lies. There was the crux of the problem. But what is there to do. Of course — that's it editors of the world — unite! After all what can we lose but our free passes. —A.K.

HOT AIR

—By Arthur Garmaise

Letter to Jazz Fans:

Iika Chase once wrote a beautiful article to women revealing the secret, gained by long experience, of how to meet the man of their separate dreams and longings. It ran something as follows:

Get ready to meet your girl friend for shopping or a show. You walk to meet her. Within ten minutes the sun is covered with storm clouds and the rain is falling in torrents... the new coat is soaking, the nylons tight, feet cold... hair like a mop... mascara running... makeup streaked. And at this moment (it always happens) the man of your dreams appears, standing at the corner and looking at you with a queer expression on his face. You crack a terrible little joke and run away feeling humiliated, mad and like you want to cry. That's the formula.

With me it's different. Whenever I want to get the thing of my latent wishes, all I have to do is determine to study. The second to last time I decided I would really get down and plug for exams... the war with Germany ended. The last time I firmly set my jaw in determination was last Friday.

Naturally there arose a brilliant opportunity the moment I sat down. The phone rang and Bob Allen was on the other end. He was having a little gathering of friends to hear Huddle Ledbelly, would I like to come over? No, I was going to study. Oh, that's too bad; he thought I was interested in Southern music and since Huddle was the greatest exponent of all jazz exponents on guitar and had recorded for the U.S. Library of Congress or some such thing, he thought I might like him, but...

I didn't wait to hear more but said I'd drop in if I could. I could and did, being completely changed in 30 seconds and out of the house in another thirty. It took me a little while to thread my way through the graves opposite Ridgewood avenue but it was worth it. I decided, after hearing Ledbelly... for here indeed, was one of the greatest of all jazz exponents, a man who lived in the medium and realized himself through it... a writer's dream of a jazz man... a living symbol of the old South, of "N' yashleens" at the turn of the century the era of true folk jazz that has now faded out into commercialized exposition and exploitation. I was excited, and took a couple of ryes. At this I became more excited and switched to Scotch. Three beers later, the concert began.

Now, there isn't much to say about a jazz concert of impromptu blues, elemental boogie, folk rhythms and the like... either you like it or you don't.

But there is this much to say; if you don't like it... you're crazy. You can excuse yourself from modern swing on the claim of being a highbrow, from Bach, on being a lowbrow, but on no count from jazz, 'cause there was everybody there from the teddibly, teddibly rich to the perpetually broke; from radio directors, producers, actors, singers to novelists, pseudo-philosophers and script writers (a pretty fair cross-section from high to low, you'll admit), and one and all we made a vow through the smoke haze that we would attend his concert on Friday night at the Monument National.

I would heartily advise you to do the same, for this is the kind of a man that makes Hot Air waves... and since you can't get him on the air, get him in person... you won't be sorry.

The Mock Parliament's Song

(From "Malice Through the Looking-Glassley," Old English Carroll)

by Leonard R. Ashley

The sun was shining on McGill,
Shining with all his might,
Because the Mocking Parliament
Was to be held that night —
Conservatives were praying for
"A big swing to the right."

Progressives and Conservatives
Were walking hand in hand;
They wept like anything to see
The Opposition's stand.
"If all the L.P.P.," they said,
"Were dead it would be grand!"

That night saw Opposition there
To see what could be done.
The Government was very peeved —
In fact, one had a gun.
"It's awfully rude of them," they said,
"To come and spoil the fun."

"The time has come," the Speaker said,
"To do what you would do."
The Government put forth their Bill,
Looking a little blue.
"The night is fine," the Liberals said,
"Do you admire the view?"

Four vehement speakers hurried up.
All eager for the treat.
And thick and fast they came at last
With notes typewritten neat.
But not one speaker said a thing
When he rose to his feet.

"We weep for you," said L.P.P.,
"We deeply sympathize."
They introduced amendments then,
Those of the largest size.
Conservatives held Union Jacks
Before their streaming eyes.

The C.C.F. and other ones
Talked for a time, although,
And kind remarks were there exchanged
In re intentions low.
And all the sub-amendments stood
And waited in a row.

When more amendments were proposed
The Speaker did beseech
"I cannot keep them all in mind,
Or even all in reach.
We cannot do with more than four,
To give a hand to each."

And when the Members come to vote
The Resolution dies.
But all amendments pass with ease —
Which causes mild surprise.
Conservatives hold Union Jacks
Before their streaming eyes.

Meet Your Faculty— Dean D. L. Thompson

by Malcolm Smith

The rather awe-inspiring list of degrees belonging to Dean Thompson caused your reporter to approach him with some trepidation, but upon meeting the Dean, his affable air and genuine interest in undergraduates soon dispelled any such ideas. This interest in students and their problems takes Dr. Thompson to the Student-Stuff conference at Middlebury College, Vermont, every year, to discuss the general problems of education.

An Englishman by birth, Dean Thompson did his undergraduate work at Aberdeen, and continued with his post-graduate studies at Cambridge. In 1928, he came to McGill as a lecturer in Bio-Chemistry, has, in his own words, "kept on climbing," and today holds the position of Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research. Even this exalted position, however, does not offer him any respite from giving innumerable lectures, as he will be the first to assure you.

The Dean had a few words to say about the relative conditions pertaining to English and Canadian college life. English education is more a matter of "sink or swim" according to one's own individual efforts. He also pointed out that the Canadian student suffers more exams than his English confrere.

Tonight, Dean Thompson will speak briefly at the first "Gen

DEAN D. L. THOMPSON, M.Sc., Ph.D., M.R.S.C., of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research.

He was a member of the Committee formed to advise all pre-med students of the medical faculty requirements, and to interview as many of them as possible Dean Thompson will place particular emphasis on the courses a student should stress in pre-medical studies.

Mrs. Paul Robeson... ...ANTHROPOLOGIST

This evening The Canadian West Indian Progressive Student Centre will present Mrs. Paul Robeson in a lecture on the future of Africa. This talk will be accompanied by an interpretative dance by the Negro Theatre Guild Dance Group. Tickets at $1.00 and $1.50 may be obtained at the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall at 1191 Mountain Street, where the talk is to be given.

An American anthropologist and author, Mrs. Robeson is the wife of the internationally known Negro actor and singer Paul Robeson. Active in the cause of the Negro people she is a lecturer on race relations and other aspects of democracy.

Born in Washington and brought up in an intellectual atmosphere, the girl was deeply influenced by the family's strong interest in politics and racial questions. After studying for a period at the University of Illinois she decided on a career in chemistry. She came East to New York, where at the Teachers College of Columbia University she earned her Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry in 1923. Two years previously on August 17th she had been married to Paul Robeson, then a student at Columbia Law School. During her student years she began to work as surgical technician and chemist at the Presbyterian Hospital, a position she held until 1925.

Marguerite Piazza Excellent In Puccini's "Butterfly"

A good performance of Puccini's famous opera "Madame Butterfly" was presented last night by the Opera Guild of Montreal with Marguerite Piazza in the title role taking all the honours. John Brooks McCormack, as Lt. Pinkerton, was a great disappointment. The supporting cast were good in their roles, the orchestra played ably. Especially distinguished was the performance of the choir.

In the first act McCormack sets a wooden and dull pace. The performance begins to take on life when Marguerite Piazza enters. She is preceded by the first appearance of the choir, which was—as throughout the opera—unified, soft and melodious, with a far away sound that made it mysterious and intense.

The wedding scene had drama, as had the entrance of the Bonze. The love duet was well done, with McCormack, a little more lively—although he did pull her elbows backward a bit too much. Carlos Alexander, as the U.S. Consul, and Simone Filibotte, gave good characterizations and able singing, as they were to do throughout the rest of the performance.

Act II was the best part of the opera. Misses Piazza and Filibotte make a perfect team; their characterizations were well done and very sympathetic. Miss Piazza's singing had perfect tone control, and a good range. She had little volume, but her characterization, as a sweet, light-hearted Butterfly did not demand more. Miss Filibotte had good range but lacked volume.

Notable in Miss Piazza's performance was the simplicity and

She: "Haven't I always been fair to you?"
He: "Yes, but I want you to be fair and warmer."

LETTER FORUM

To the Editor,
McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:

After reading a letter published in the McGill Daily on Tuesday, January 21, written by a group of students preferring to remain anonymous and calling themselves the "Thursday Nighters", I feel that in view of the circumstances, this letter is necessary.

As Chairman of the Junior Prom Committee, 1946, I wish to say that there was no "inbred vocalist" at the Prom, and that these slanderous "Thursday Nighters", should make a public apology to this effect.

Sincerely,
GORDON PFEIFFER,
Chairman, Junior Prom.

The Editor,
The McGill Daily.

Sir,

With regard to the two letters which appeared in your columns within the past few days in criticism of the ACS Committee, we should like to explain the situation to the gentlemen who are so dissatisfied with the arrangements which have been made for the dance.

The original date, February 14, was made at the very beginning of the session; as soon as approval was received from the Dates Committee, arrangements were made to draw up a contract with one of Canada's foremost bands. Unfortunately, Feb. 14, is a very popular date, being Valentine's Day and it was impossible to obtain any of the bands which we had placed on our list of possibilities.

As far as the Escorts are concerned, we had heard many criticisms of them after the Prom, and felt that the Arts, Commerce and Science students would not be satisfied to have that band play at their formal. If we were wrong, we are sorry, for we realize that we were elected to speak for the students in our faculties.

Even Thursday the thirteenth we found to be a difficult date for the same reason as the fourteenth; however, we were able to obtain Stan Patton's orchestra, one that we feel to be well qualified to play at the ACS. He can be heard on Saturday evenings at 10 p.m. on a local station. Members of the committee had heard his orchestra before.

Dawson Pucksters
Edge Out McGill
In Rugged Contest

By BERNARD DAVIS

An aggressive and high-spirited Dawson Intermediate puck squad nosed out the McGill team at the Verdun Auditorium yesterday afternoon by a 2-1 count. It was a fast-moving hard checking contest with both teams giving no quarter.

The contest was definitely a goalers' battle as Herb Kert and Owendon turned in stellar performances. From the opening whistle, the Dawson contingent showed that keen aggressive style which characterized their play throughout the game. And after two minutes of play this style paid off as Miro Bozich slammed the puck past Owendon on a pass from diminutive Larry Wulff. From here on the first period was one of heavy checking by both sides, with the Redmen showing a poor brand of passing which improved as the game progressed.

SHARPENING UP

The second period found both teams exhibiting a better type of hockey, with much more accurate passing on both sides. The McGill team showed up strong defensively, with Tommy Bridel and Chalmers forming a solid wall. Both teams failed to capitalize on penalties as their power plays lacked organization and the back-checking excellent. Jim Knubley made it 2-0 on a beautiful corner shot that didn't give Owendon a chance; the goal itself being the product of a smart passing play.

The Redmen turned on the steam in the third period, and after three minutes of play, Hayward spoiled Kert's shutout on a scramble in front of the nets. Trying for the equalizer, the home team continued to press, and had their shooting been a little better, they might have succeeded. But Kert rose to great heights, and stopped pucks from all angles. The McGill team was definitely dogged by bad luck with Whizzer Smith hitting the post, and others missing open nets. The final whistle found the score 2-1.

"We had the game on our sticks," moaned coach Ross Hutchings. But you don't pay off in potentialities, and McGill lacked that scoring punch which is the necessary condition for a win.

Taylor Brothers Pace Attack In MBL Win; Intermediates Squeeze Past Georgians, 33-32

By SCOOP PEARL

The Dawson College Senior M.B.L. entry jumped back into a second place tie with the Miggos last night as they walked through the as yet-winless Budds by a 50-41 count at the Currie Gym before seven hundred spectators to put an end to their current slump. The tip top Taylors, Kenney and Vern paced the St. Johns crew to victory by counting thirty of their team's points, with the former notching eighteen points to his record. Seventeen-year-old Freddie Bridel spearheaded his team's losing effort by sinking 15, while Blackburn counted an ominous thirteen markers. The game was featured by disorganized and rugged play, with the Dawsonians having the advantage in fast breakaways. With the Taylor boys just "right", the St. Johns aggregation jumped into an early lead that was but once headed.

FAST PASSES

The visitors drew first blood as Ken and Vern Taylor each sank their first shots on the basket, giving the ultimate victors a 4-0 lead. Paced by Blackburn and the dead-end Freddie Bridel, the Budds tied up the score and went one marker ahead. From this point onwards however the Goldbloom-coached blockers were never headed. Mentor Goldbloom, whose knee injury continues to plague him, acted as floor general for an offensive that saw the Dawsonians climb into a first half 25-20 lead, with Ken and Vernon Taylor each potting eight points, and aggressive Johnny Gearey sinking five. The hat-sponsored quintet remained in the ball game, thanks to Fred Bridel's nine points in this first twenty minutes of play.

Upon resumption of play in the last portion of the game, manoeuvres opened up and the Dawsonians took advantage of numerous breaks to jump into a safe lead. Chunky Phil Weisberg, playing his first encounter for the St. Johns basketballers since having been acquired on a "lend-lease" agreement from the parent McGill team, led the attack in this half, and, although netting but two points, proved invaluable in defensive manoeuvres. Kenny Taylor notched ten markers in pacing all players on the floor. With the score 28-34 against the Budds, the Bob Sullivan coached quintet, faced with the proverbial "axe" if they lost the game, began a belated offensive that saw eight points potting in a row, with Blackburn and

By BOB USHER

The battle for fourth place in the Intermediate M.B.L. standings is now at an end — temporarily so in any case — with the Blue and Red Dawson aggregation resting there after a 33-32 edge-out victory over Georgians last evening. This contest, held at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium and accompanying the Senior St. Johns' win against Georgians, represented the third victory by Orlick teams within six hours. With the hockey team beating out McGill by a 2-1 score (even McGill's solitary goal was scored by an ex-Dawson boy, Doug Woodward) and with the two basketball wins, it was really 'Dawson Day' yesterday.

However getting back to basketball... a close observer sitting at the scoring table between the two benches during the Intermediate game noticed hairs turning gray, one after the other, on the heads of the opposing coaches, Jack Brown of Sir George Williams and Jim Holmes of Dawson. Well might this have been so with the Holmes' lads coming out from behind a 16-9 mark at half time to put on a burst of power and a tremendous fighting display to take a 29-28 lead with six minutes to go. Between this time and the end of the game the lead changed five times as the Blue and Red and then the Downtown boys scored baskets successively.

WINNING MARKER

Finally, with only one minute and five seconds to go and the Georgians holding the lead, 32-31, Collin McKinnon heaved in the winning marker after a terrific barrage by Holmes' boys had proved futile against a seemingly charmed Maroon and Gold basket. It was really "Mickie's" game right through and this winning basket only climaxed a splendid evening of scoring and checking by the chunky lad who put up a swell fighting display.

Besides McKinnon, who scored nine of the team's 32 points, Ellie Godel and especially Brien Laing played spirited games. For the Georgian cagers, it was Stan Kis going both ways and scoring a quarter of his team's quota. Also shining were veterans Bill Naves and John Weston.

Waterpoloists Lose Exciting Contest To 'Y'

The McGill Junior Water Polo Team fell one goal short of being the first squad to tie or defeat Y.M.H.A. when they lost by the score of five to four. In the final minutes of the game Lou Fishman swam like his name suggests and sank the winning marker.

In the first half both teams gave all they had in order to get a lead. But when the score was posted at the end of the half, it read two all, and neither team had given or taken more than the other. Terry Flood scored one of his two markers in this half with Ian Fraser getting the other.

BREAK LOOSE

After one minute of play in the second half the Y Team had moved ahead four to two. Jeff Ince moved the Redmen one closer with a beautiful shot from centre. Fishman nipped his third and Flood his second as the game ended with McGill one goal short.

There will be a meeting of both Water Polo Teams this afternoon at one o'clock in the Union. Food will be served after the meeting.

McGill Squash Men to Encounter Double Threat In Toronto Varsity, Dartmouth Over Weekend

This coming week-end sees the biggest squash activity ever seen on McGill courts as the seven-man Red squad takes on both Varsity and Dartmouth. Sporting the Crimson colors will be Pete Landry, Bob Colquhoun, Don Farlinger, Dave Culver, Guy MacFarlane and Andy LeMesurier playing in that order. Al Gillespie and Denis Stairs will play off today for the coveted seventh slot.

At 2:00 p.m. McGill will open against their traditional rivals from the University of Toronto for the unofficial Canadian championship. Last year the Blues were downed six matches to four in a tight series. The McGill team then consisted of Colquhoun, Landry, Culver, Farlinger and Stairs, all of whom are slated for play Saturday if Stairs downs Gillespie. Playing in the number one slot for Varsity will be George Callahan, Varsity undergraduate champion and runner-up for the Granite Club title. Number two will very likely be Syd Moses who showed much promise here last year.

AMERICANS INVADE

After this battle our boys take the courts at 4:00 p.m. against coach Red Hoehn's Dartmouth squad. This is the first time that an American college team has played on Canadian courts and it is fitting that it should be our old time winter sports rival in Green. Not too much is known about the boys from Hanover but Red has a habit of putting out some very strong players. Their best man, Zeke Straw, comes up with an excellent reputation among squashers. After McGill, Dartmouth and Varsity will square off for the final match at the weekend.

It is expected that there will be many spectators at these matches as they will be the most important and exciting games yet seen on McGill courts. McGill's record to date is three wins, over Amherst, Williams and MIT, with two losses, against Harvard and West Point.

This week-end will also see two McGill men playing at the MAAA in the Canadian championship singles which will see every good player in Canada competing. Pete Landry and Dave Culver will be

McGill Skiers At Middlebury Carnival Sat.

Ski fans at Middlebury, Vt., are going to get an eyeful of McGill's best come today, Friday and Saturday when the local men and coeds face the pick of top-ranking American colleges. The women have first call as they engage in downhill competition today and tomorrow finds them dodging flags in a giant slalom race. These lasses are hoping to repeat the spectacular job they did last year when they copped the unofficial team skiing championship.

The snappy team comprises Joan Stanforth and Dorothy Burden, Eastern Canada representatives of recent years, dependable Jane Bishop and the newly crowned downhill and slalom interfaculty champ, Elizabeth Turner-Bone. Having whizzed down the Northern slopes the last few weeks despite the changeable weather, the coeds are ready for any kind of snow conditions.

MORE PLAY

This competition is only one of many in which the women will engage. In February they will be out to defend the Dartmouth Ski Championship at Hanover, New Hampshire and later on they will be put to the test in the Intercollegiate hickory meet at St. Marguerite's.

The Redmen ski aces will also be out to repeat last year's win over the Amerk colleges with Dartmouth being the team expected to provide the stiffest opposition. Taking off in this, the 16th Annual Winter Carnival, are Don Stanforth, Johnny "The Jump" Foster, Kaare Olsen, Bob Tilden, Art Brunneau and newcomers Ken Thomas, Baz Davis and speedy John Tyler. These boys have been training

Senior Pucksters Face U of M In Intercollegiate Contest Fri.

McGill's senior puckmen will be out to extend their unbeaten streak to four games and also increase their lead in the Intercollegiate hockey race when they trade bumps and grunts with the U. of M. Carabins this Friday night.

When these two teams met earlier in the season they staged a knock-down, drag-out battle in which the issue was in doubt until the siren ended the third period. Tommy Hale's goal in the final frame won the game for the Redmen 3-2 but Dave Campbell's charges had to skate hard and fast in order to gain the victory.

Fencers to Compete In Saturday Tourney

No more flogging around. Fencers are really getting down to business. Up at the Sir Arthur Currie Gym this Saturday the touché experts are going to go at each other in a merciless fashion in the important Intramural Fencing Tournament.

In the afternoon in the B. W. & F. room the Men's Foil will be fenced off. To keep the kettle boiling the Sabre and Ladies' Foil events will take place in the evening as a part of the Intramural Athletics Night program. These tournaments have more importance than meets the naked eye, for the Intercollegiate team will be picked largely from the winners.

All those wishing to enter hard under the watchful eyes of McGill coaches Foeger, Pangman and manager George Riley and they will certainly be respected by the crack skiers down U.S. way.

One of the leading centres in cancer research for many years, McGill was to forward the film to the Rockefeller Institute in New York for further intensive study. In its making many actual cases being treated at the Royal Victoria Hospital were used.

Some parts of the film contained aspects and phases of cancer which had never been photographed before, as well as results of new treatments devised at the University. Some new discoveries in cytology were also included in this film.

Target Trifles By Trigger

The McGill Rifle Club are really hitting the spots they see before their eyes as they are going along on their unbeaten streak in the Montreal Sporting Rifle Competition. Following off their closest opponents Tuesday evening the Redmen were given their toughest tussle by these sharpshooters on the Mount Royal team. The McGills now have a 9 point lead over the men from the Town by virtue of the four points collected in this win.

SWEET REVENGE

Due to the fact that the third relay was a tie, the two highest scorers in that relay, A. Bourke of McGill and K. Hampton of Mount Royal, shot it out to decide the winner of the relay and the garner of the point. A similar occurrence took place last year between these very same marksmen in which it was necessary to have three relays before a winner could be found. It was Hampton. However, this year the tables were turned and Bourke beat Hampton in one relay: 100-9x to 100-2x.

Score:
Relay No. 1 Mc. 500—31x, M. R. 500—27x.
Relay No. 2 Mc. 500—40x, M. R. 500—35x.
Relay No. 3 Mc. 500—37x, M. R. 500—37x.
Total McGill 1499—102x, Mount Royal 1499—97x.
The individual scores were:
A. Bourke 300—22x.
R. Cross 300—22x.
R. Bugler 300—21x.
W. Manson-Hing 300—16x.
